

Ondřej Navrátil • Martin Šojdr

GHOSTS AND BOGEYS

It may not take much. You step across a stray root or are having a quick nap – when suddenly you find yourself in the middle of a haunted forest, at night!

You can't see one step ahead, but you can hear clattering. The skeletons are on a midnight drive, their bones rattling ominously, a werewolf panting along behind. Scree-eech... that's the grinding of an old troll's teeth.

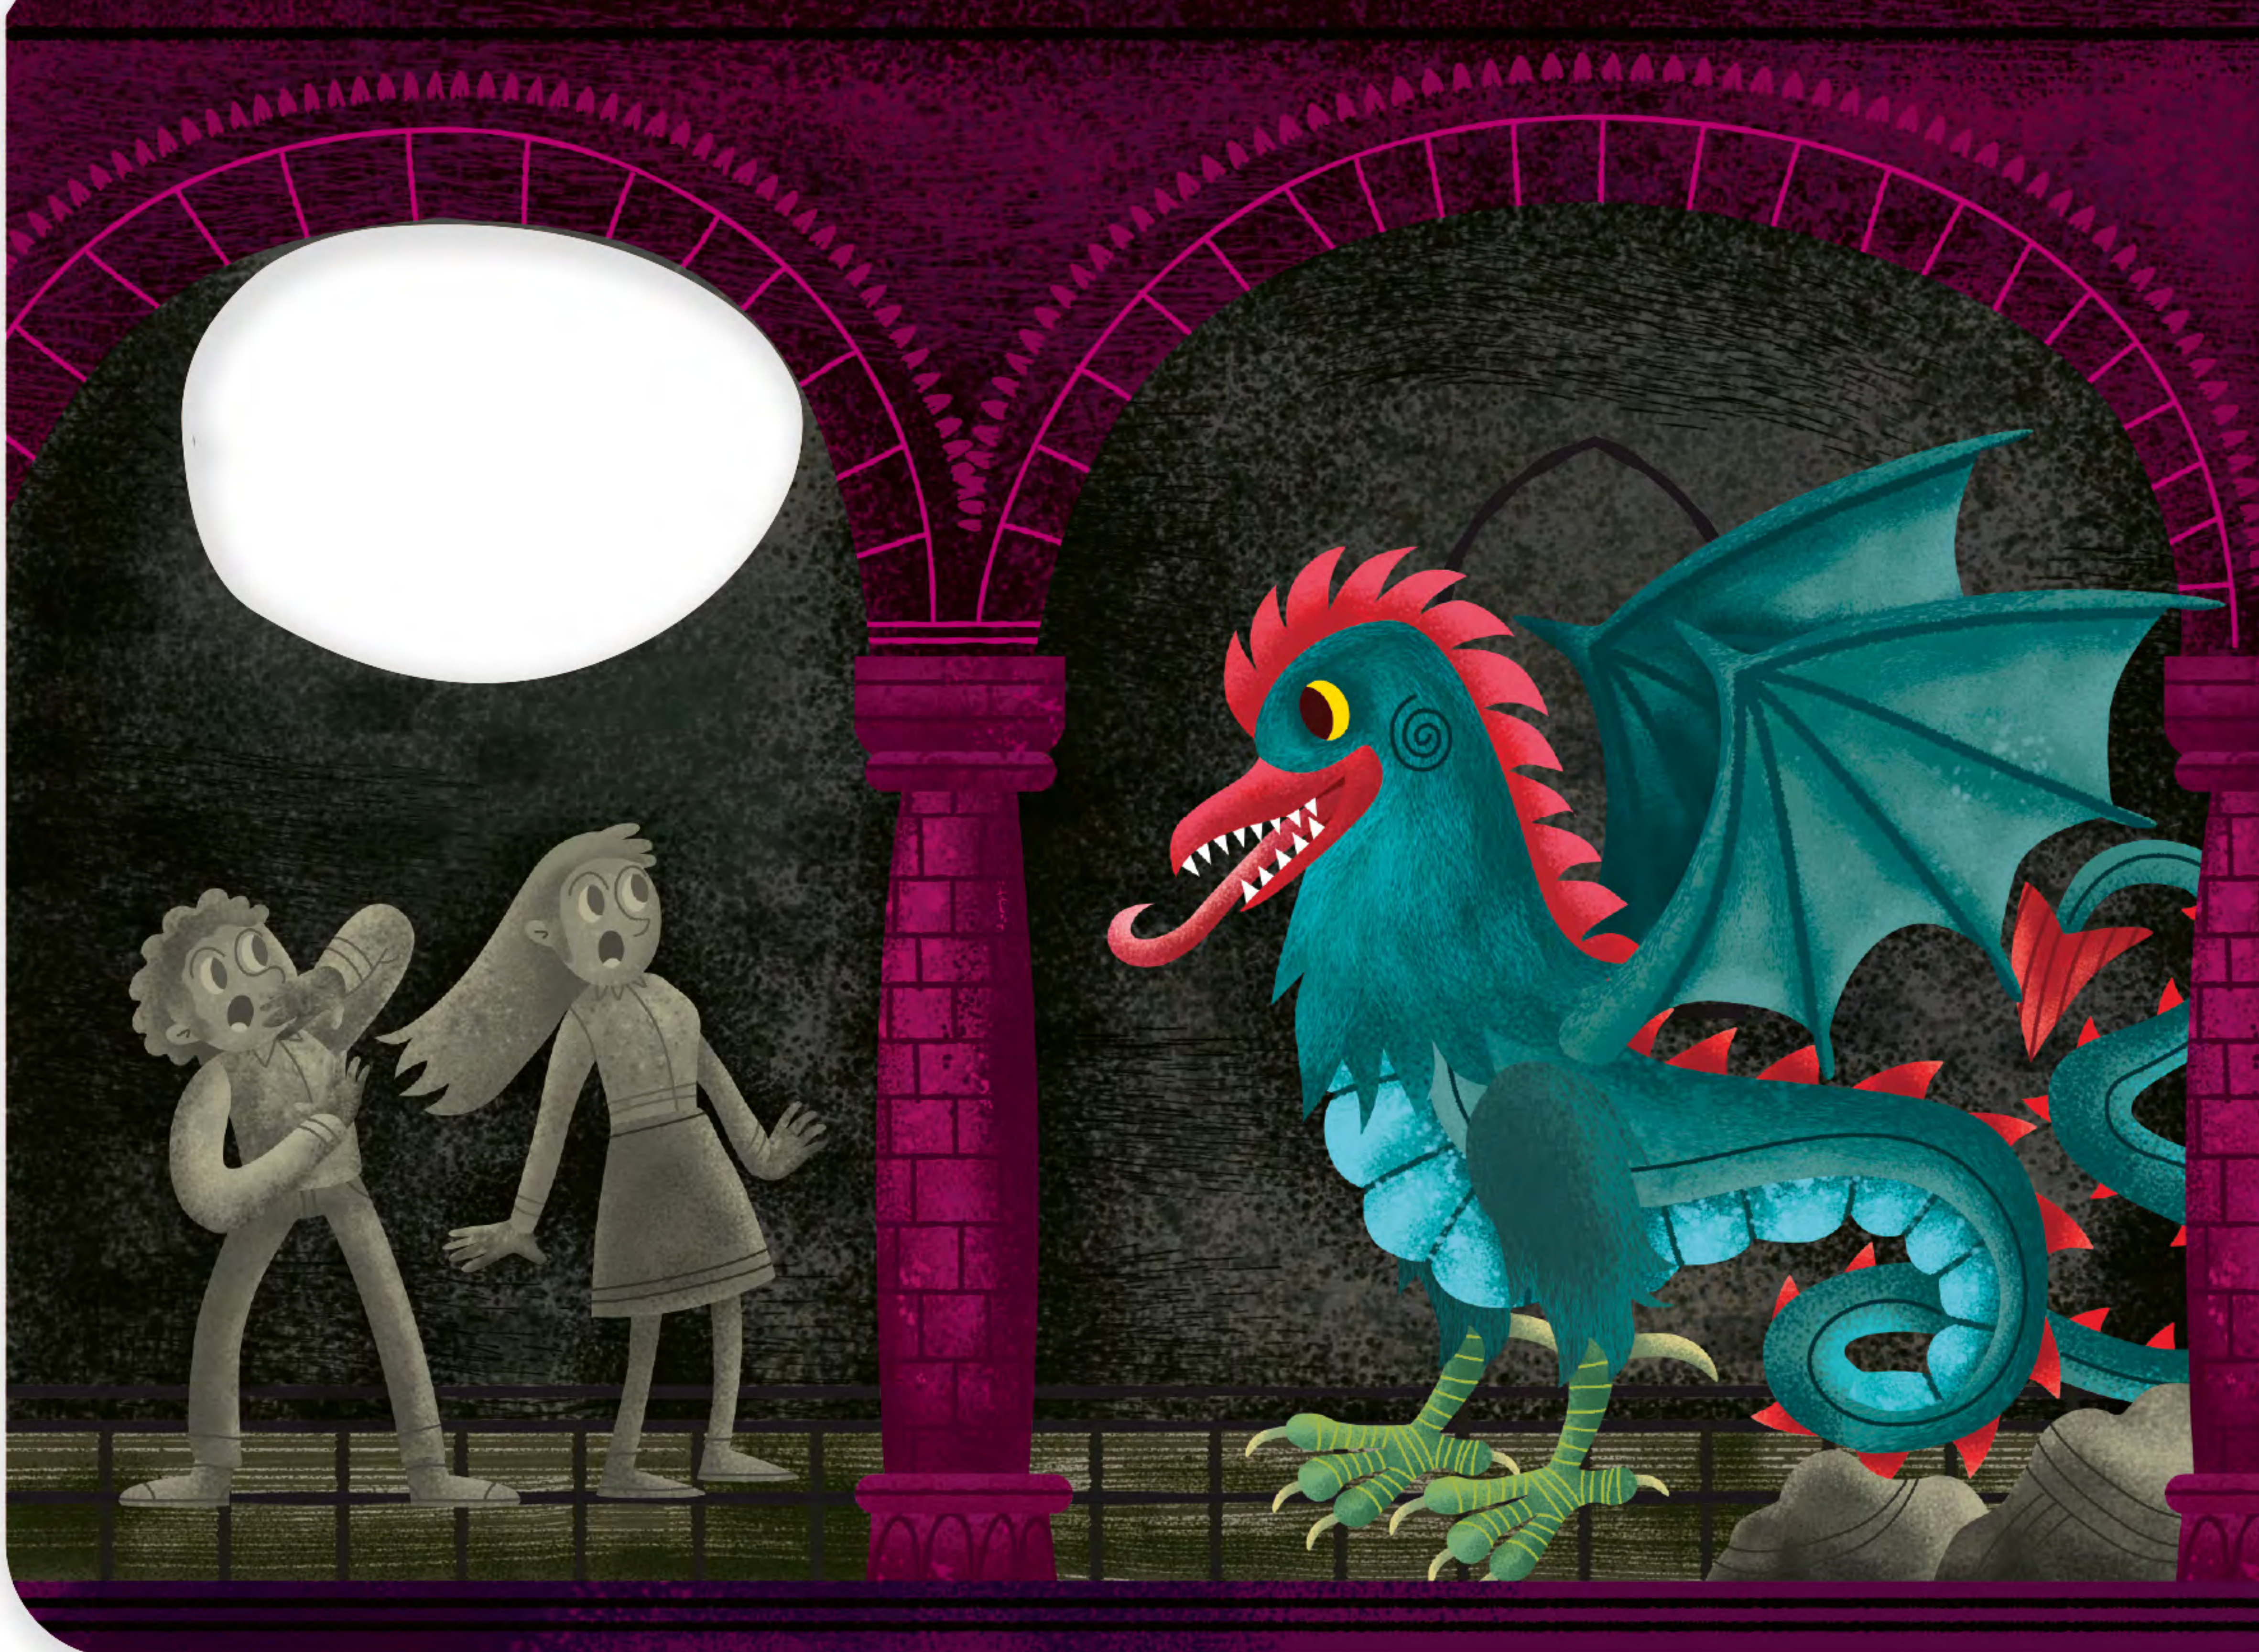

Follow the wood nymph instead. She so likes to sing and dance. But she has led you to the gates of a haunted castle! Do you dare go inside?

Follow the wood nymph instead. She so likes to sing and dance. But she has led you to the gates of a haunted castle! Do you dare go inside?

Let me tell you something else: the biggest scaredy-cats of all the bogeys are ghosts. Take off their sheet and they run away, howling for their mother. Have pity on the poor things...

Don't look now! Close your eyes! You're in the company of a rare basilisk – a creature hatched by a frog from a rooster's egg. The mere sight of a basilisk will turn you to stone. Run for your life!

Go-o-o-oal! The vampires are watching their beloved football. They are glued to the TV while the Championship is on. You can take it easy: no one will get hurt today. Phew!

We are at our destination — a great hall bursting at the seams! Before you join the bogeys' banquet, put on your mask to disguise your humanness. The bogey boogie is about to begin! Whoever doesn't dance tonight will spend next year haunting, instead of the zombies.

Ondřej Navrátil

GHOSTS AND BOGEYS

Martin Šojdr

Come! Explore a haunted castle with us.

If ghosts and bogeys didn't exist, we would have to think them up, because without them the world would be boring. Only terrifying basilisks, light-footed nymphs, see-through spooks and rattling skeletons can turn a sleepy castle, quiet forest or your bedroom into a site of adventures and endless fun. Have you ever raced bogeys in a dark cellar, or danced at the wildest of wild monster balls? Nothing is out of the question. The gate to the world of ghosts and bogeys is right under your bed!

ISBN + EAN

b4u publishing

www.albatrosmedia.eu
© Designed by B4U Publishing,
member of Albatros Media Group, 2024. ID: A707820010897
Author: Ondřej Navrátil, Illustrations © Martin Šojdr
Translator: Andrew Oakland All rights reserved.

WARNING:
Choking hazard.
Not suitable for children under 36 months.

